UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE FARM SERVICE AGENCY NOTICE OF AVAILABILITY SWINE FACILITY FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT (FONS)

FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT (FONSI)
U. S. Department of Agriculture, Farm Service Agency (FSA) issues a
FONSI for Fanter Farms swine facility to be located in the Nonresponsive

The project includes the construction of a 101' x 193' swine building with 10'deep pit for manure storage. FSA has completed an Environmental Assessment (EA) and has determined that the Fanter Farms swine facility will not have a significant effect on the human environment; therefore, no environmental impact statement will be prepared. Information regarding this project can be viewed at https://www.fsa.usda.gov/state-offices/Illinois/resources/index or by contacting John Gehrke, Farm Loan Chief / State Environmental Coordinator at john.gehrke@usda.gov or at (217) 331-6873.

Mason County Board Member Hugh McHarry has been opposed to the operations and said he was "aghast" to find the environmental review of the site would not be done before permits were granted.

The proposal did gain the support of the local Farm Bureau and fellow farmers, who pointed out the county had other similar facilities that operated without problem.

The process brought the Mason County Board to write letters to state lawmakers asking that the board and residents be granted the right to have input on such facilities. Current law allows pig feeding operations with fewer than 2,500 head of swine to go through the permitting process without public hearings.

Fanter said his financing application was approved by the FSA a couple weeks ago, and he already has all the permits he needs from the county.
